Champagne Palmer & Co introduces Grands Terroirs 2018, a cuvée firmly anchored in the House's heritage and true to its founding vision. Echoing the very first cuvée produced in 1947, it reflects the same enduring ambition: to craft great Champagnes defined by freshness, elegance, and precision, drawn from the emblematic terroirs of the Montagne de Reims.

A true signature of the House, it relies on a rigorous selection of Premier and Grand Crus, chosen for the purity and distinctiveness of their expression. The blend highlights the complementarity of the grape varieties, in a harmonious dialogue that defines the Palmer & Co style.

The 2018 vintage offers a particularly accomplished interpretation: precise freshness and elegant structure, supported by a remarkable length. The palate, both broad and finely chiseled, unfolds with elegance in a controlled tension. This new edition of Grands Terroirs stands as a strong statement of excellence and identity, reflecting nearly 80 years of unwavering expertise.

2018 Vintage: A Remarkable Year in Champagne

Following a 2017 vintage marked by challenging conditions, 2018 stands out as an exceptional year in Champagne. Ideal weather conditions led to a remarkable harvest: a rainy winter followed by a well-watered spring prepared the soils, while a hot, dry summer, extended by a superb late season, ensured optimal grape ripening. The balance between sugars and acidity proved outstanding, yielding base wines of great finesse and complexity. The cooler northern and north-eastern terroirs of the Montagne de Reims, with later ripening, played a key role in preserving freshness and energy, essential elements in the expression of Grands Terroirs 2018.
